Five minutes later the ambulance was there.
'That was quick,' Sita said. Soon the girl was in the ambulance. The driver, Julie Thompson, closed the doors. A tall police officer said, 'Don't go down Westminster Road to the hospital. It's quicker down Lightfoot Street.' 'What? Westminster Road is the quickest way to the hospital from here,' Julie said. 'Not at the moment. There's a fire there. So Lightfoot Street is quicker than Westminster Road.'

The police officers wanted to ask Sita, Debbie and Nick some questions about the driver. So they all went to the police station. There they sat down in front of a special police computer.

Police officer OK, kids. This is important. Let's start with the hair. Was it short or long?

Debbie Long.

Police officer Like this?

Nick No, longer than that.

Police officer Was it as long as this?

Sita No, not as long as that.

Two hours later ...

'That's him!' everyone said.

5
Debbie That was hard work. But it was fun.

Police officer Yes, but what's more important – I think we can find the driver now.

Nick That's good.

Sita Yes, but the most important thing is – how is the girl?
